

Dankso Fair Hill International CCI* Day Two Leaders and Big SSG Winner

October 14, 2011 - Elkton, MD - Neither rain, nor severe thunderstorms could stop Boyd Martin and Faye Woolf's Ying Yang Yo from putting in a very nice test to take over the lead in the CCI at the Dankso Fair Hill International Festival in The Country on Friday. The weather was trying at best, with the competition halted while severe storms soaked the area. Becky Holder and Can't Fire Me owned by husband Tom Holder sit in second place with Team Rebecca LLC's Veronica ridden by Karen O'Connor in third going into tomorrow's cross-country phase.

Susan Beebee and Plan B Equestrian's Wolf lead the CCI competition by four points with Courtney Cooper and Neal Camen's Who's A Star in second. Overnight leader Andrea Leatherman and Mystic My owned by the rider and Suzan Johnston in third. The weather forecast is for windy and suitably cooler conditions tomorrow, which should help dry out the cross-country course, leaving it in good condition.

Young rider Caroline Martin wore her lucky pair of SSG Digital gloves to claim the SSG "Go Low For The Dough" bonus award in the CCI competition after the completion of dressage. She claimed $1,500, the second time she has won an award this year and said, "I am so excited, I just love these gloves". No winner in the CCI means that $2,000 will be available to be won for the rider wearing SSG Digital or Eventer gloves who jumps a double clear round closest to the optimum time in the cross-country phase.

For more information, contact Samantha Lendl, Executive Director, PRO
772.633.6129, samantha@professionalriders.org

###